To whom it may concern,

I was delighted to receive a request from Sharon Simpson of Stir Communications Group, Inc. to provide a letter of reference regarding their development of our website. I am pleased to give them my highest recommendation.

Stir Communications developed a web presence for us that is both visually interesting and follows best practices for search engine marketing. Our firm was seeking an online way to feature our work in the very competitive commercial architectural arena. Rather than feature our entire portfolio of work, Stir Communications recommended we showcase the types of projects that are of highest priority for our firm's future expansion. This advice has proved invaluable as we continue to expand our market share in commercial architecture.

The staff at Stir Communications are very knowledgeable online business and marketing consultants. They provided outstanding insight into our industry and specifically into our architectural firm. We have been grateful for their good work as more than 33,000 visitors have now viewed our corporate site. We give them our highest recommendation as outstanding in their field of online communication and online business consultation. I know that you will enjoy working with Sharon and the staff at Stir as much as we have. Please feel free to contact me with any questions.

Sincerely,

Alvin Bartel, MAIBC
